EVILS OF WAR ARE ATTACKED BY REV. PUTMAN

Declares War Is One Of Greatest Plagues Afflicting Humanity.

EDUCATE YOUTH TO THINK PEACE

Bitterly attacking war and its evils, the Rev. Dwight D. Putman, pastor of the Christ Lutheran church, delivered a timely sermon to the congregation Sunday morning. "The Fight for Peace" was the subject of the sermon, the text of which was chosen from Deuteronomy 6:4-9, "Listen, Israel: the Eternal, the Eternal alone, is our God. And you must love the Eternal your God with all your mind and with all your soul and with all your strength."

"Some folks are saying we are tired of war stories. Let us forget about it. But that is just the danger, that we will forget too soon. History tells us that always when we have forgotten much about the last war through the coming on of a new generation then we are ready for the next one. I would that all pictures and books and every means that shows us the reality and the inhumanity of war shall continuously thrust themselves in our faces," said the Rev. Mr. Putman.

Build A Nation

"That was Israel's only hope of building a nation that would be true to God. It is ever the only way when the odds are against one in any struggle. You and I must learn by heart and carefully impress upon our children the ruinous costs and horrors of war rather than dress it up in a nice uniform. With Luther we must be convinced and convince others that 'war is one of the greatest plagues that can afflict humanity; it destroys religion, it destroys states, it destroys families. Any scourge in fact is preferable to it. Famine and pestilence is nothing in comparison with it.'"

Protesting against war service the speaker said: "We have organizations and groups in this and other countries who are crying bolder and better armies and navies. They are going up and down the land spreading their propaganda to continue the same futile methods of preparation that breed nothing but jealousy, hatred and mistrust."

The Rev. Mr. Putman then presented the plea for the youth of today to be educated in the theories for peace rather than in the military organization that is thrust upon citizens in many different ways.

In conclusion the pastor said: "War is a crime against humanity and against God. We can no longer invite God into our wars as we once did but we stand him aside while we engage in helping fight for the selfish ambitions of nations, while we show Spain how we can wipe up the earth with her, or while we rest some territory from Mexico, or while we prove to Japan the kind of stuff America is made of."

"These words we must learn by heart, 'War is unchristian, it is a crime against humanity and God.' We must impress them on our children. We must tie them on our hands as a memento, and wear them on our foreheads as a badge; we must inscribe them on the doorposts of our houses and on our gates."

DRAFT BILL TO CURB RECKLESS MOTOR DRIVING

Safety Responsibility Bill To Be Presented To 1933 Legislature.

ACT APPROVED BY 19 STATES

A safety responsibility bill of the type being prepared for submission to the 1933 Pennsylvania legislature controls irresponsible and reckless motorists and makes all drivers more cautious, according to reports received by Henry M. Scharf, president of the Gettysburg Motor club of Adams county, from officials of nineteen American states and five Canadian provinces where such a statute is in effect.

The three primary objectives of this measure, which the motor federation will seek to have enacted into law, are set forth as follows:

To provide an incentive for careful and safe driving and to control the reckless and irresponsible operator.

To compel those drivers who have demonstrated their recklessness to establish evidence of financial responsibility for the future as a prerequisite to their regaining the privilege of driving.

To furnish an incentive for payment of otherwise uncollectible judgments arising from automobile accidents.

Legal Analysis

"Approximately one-half of the vehicles in the United States and two-thirds of those in Canada are now operating under one or more of the essential principles of the A. A. A. responsibility law," Mr. Scharf said today in explaining the bill. "The wide acceptance of this legislation, drafted by a committee of the national motoring organization four years ago, has given its provisions a test in actual practice and subjected them to legal and administrative analysis. The measure we are having drafted for Pennsylvania meets all constitutional requirements and, we feel, will be the best possible remedy to protect motorists of this state against the irresponsible accident repeater and will, at the same time, tend to make all drivers more cautious."

Mr. Scharf's statement continued: "This bill does not require the careful and safe driver to provide liability insurance for the protection of others unless he has been proved guilty of violating certain provisions of the motor vehicle laws. The responsibility bill, however, requires that once you have injured another by virtue of your own negligence, and a judgment has been rendered against you, you must either pay that judgment and put up protection for the future or else put away your car and hand over your license."

"In other words, the bill does not force the entire motoring public to pay the cost of that portion of the public which is negligent. It does insist that the dangerous driver either carry insurance for the other fellow or get off the highway. The fact that such a law is in effect, we have learned from the other states and the Canadian provinces, makes drivers extremely cautious in their street and highway conduct and accidents thereby are reduced. "The responsibility bill works, other states have demonstrated, and Pennsylvania needs it badly."

OCCUPANTS NOT HURT IN CRASH

One Driver Falls Asleep And Car Upsets; Machines Collide In Square.

Believed to have fallen asleep at the wheel, Howard Gladhill, of Emmitsburg, was injured when the light roadster he was driving left Harrisburg road and upset, three miles south of York Springs at 8 o'clock, Saturday evening. A passing motorist took Gladhill to the Harrisburg hospital where he remained as an over-night patient.

His car was wrecked, the damage being estimated by a local state highway motor patrolman, who investigated at $250.

Cars Collide

No one was injured when cars driven by Charles Alvine, Abbottstown, and Mike Teorsky, Brooklyn, New York, collided in the square at Abbottstown, Saturday.

Alvine was traveling east and Teorsky was going west. While going through the square, Teorsky was looking for a sign to tell him how far it was to Pittsburgh, his destination, and failed to look where he was going, according to a local state highway motor patrolman, who investigated.

As a result of Teorsky's alleged inattention, his car struck that driven by Alvine.

About $80 damage was caused the Brooklyn man's car and about $20 to Alvine's machine.

ROOSEVELT MAY DISCUSS DEBTS

Expect Democratic President-elect To Accept Hoover's Invitation.

Albany, N. Y., Nov. 14 (AP)—President-elect Roosevelt today prepared a reply to President Hoover's invitation to a white house conference on the war debt situation.

It was believed by those close to the New York governor that he would accept the invitation and suggest the conference be held on Monday or Tuesday of next week.

Mr. Roosevelt, recovering from a slight cold which confined him to his room since last Friday, expects to resume his engagements tomorrow. All of his appointments for today as well as since last Saturday were cancelled.

Mr. Roosevelt's plan made several days before the note situation arose called for him staying in Albany this week until Friday when he was to go to New York. From New York he planned to proceed to his Hyde Park home for the week-end and then to start for Warm Springs, Georgia, some time Monday. The Warm Springs trip if made on the present schedule would take him through Washington on Tuesday.

Urges Travelers To See Gettysburg Field With Guide

Writing enthusiastically in "AAA Travel," a monthly publication of the American Automobile association which goes to all members of clubs like the Gettysburg Motor club which are affiliated with the American Automobile association, Ernest N. Smith, executive vice president and editor, has the following to say about Gettysburg battlefields in the November issue under the title, "New Ways and Highways of Pennsylvania".

"One should not leave hurriedly * * * Gettysburg. No American should miss the opportunity to see this magnificent memorial park, where the civil war reached its peak. There is a thrill to stand upon the very spot where the southern troops reached the furthest point north and the story of this great war as told by the guides leaves a mood of solemn pride that strategy and heroism reached such heights among our own people fighting on both sides of a human issue."

$15,000 Damage Action Is Filed

Damages of $15,000 are asked by Mrs. Nellie Rahter, Gettysburg, in a suit against Mrs. Esther Cramer Jacobs, Harrisburg, former Gettysburg nurse, with the filing of a statement of claims in the office of Prothonotary S. L. Allison. Keith and Sheely represent Mrs. Rahter. The suit was started on October 18, last.

The accident, in which Mrs. Rahter received injuries for which she is asking damages, occurred on December 28, 1931, at Baltimore and Middle streets. Mrs. Rahter was attempting to cross the street when Mrs. Jacobs, then Miss Cramer, backed her car into her.

The statement of claims states that Mrs. Rahter suffered a fractured left leg in the accident and was confined to a hospital for 98 days. Since then, it is alleged, she has been unable to walk or stand without support. Negligence is charged. The defendant is given 15 days in which to file an affidavit of defense.

Leonid Meteors Soar Sky Tonight And Public Is Asked To Help Count

The Leonid meteors, in uncountable numbers, are due to strike the earth's atmosphere tonight, tomorrow and Wednesday. In the last 1000 years they have more than once filled the sky like snowflakes, causing the superstitious to think that the end of the world was at hand. In recent years the show has been a poor one.

No promises that it will be good are being made this year by astronomers, whatever they may hope for. Dr. Charles P. Olivier, of the department of astronomy, University of Pennsylvania, and president of the American Meteor society, in an article written for the Associated Press, says:

"We prefer to have the casual observer surprised by a good shower of meteors rather than disappointed by a moderate or poor one."

"We are, however, making careful and extensive preparations for the shower which we hope will arrive. Our hopes are based on three things: One, the observations of the last four years; two, records of

GAS RATES ARE REDUCED HERE

New Schedule Is In Effect Now, Manager Miller Announces Today.

Consumers of gas in Gettysburg this morning welcomed a second reduction in gas rates. The public service commission approved a new schedule effective at once for the Gettysburg district. This is the second reduction since the installation of natural gas here.

The new schedule is noted for two classifications relative to the amount of heating units consumed by local consumers.

Heretofore there were four classifications ranging from 50 cents per therm for two therms each month to 13 cents per therm for all over 24 therms per month.

The new schedule provides for the thirteen cent rate for each therm up to 16. For the next thirty therms the rate drops to 10 cents per therm and for all over 70 therms the rate is six cents per therm.

The minimum charge of 25 cents per month remains.

The reduction in heating unit rates is on the basis of 100,000 heating units for 13 cents down to 100,000 heating units for six cents.

H. H. Miller, manager of the Gettysburg Gas company, said the new reduction, which is in effect now, is the lowest rate ever put into effect and will materially benefit all consumers. He said the new rate will serve as an added inducement to consumers to heat their homes with gas. "This rate will make gas heating so cheap as to attract many consumers to this form of heating," Mr. Miller said.

CHIMNEY BLAZE

The Gettysburg fire company was called out shortly after 9 o'clock Sunday evening, to extinguish a chimney fire in the former Butt apartment building, Carlisle street. W. P. Gilliland is the present owner of the building. The fire was confined to the chimney and only minor damage was reported.

C. T. ZIEGLER IS NOT GUILTY IN COURT CASE

Court Directs Verdict When Witnesses Fail To Respond When Called.

NOVEMBER TERM IS OPENED TODAY

When two important witnesses for the prosecution failed to appear, Judge Donald P. McPherson directed a jury to return a verdict of not guilty against C. T. Ziegler, proprietor of the Blue Parrot tea room, Chambersburg street, charged with failing to stop after an accident in court this afternoon.

Ziegler's case was the first called for trial at the November term of quarter sessions court, which opened this morning at 10:30 o'clock. The Gettysburg man had been indicted at the August term of court.

Mr. and Mrs. Crafton Loveland, of Detroit, Michigan, occupants of the automobile Ziegler's car is alleged to have struck on the Lincoln highway, west of here on the evening of July 29, were to have been the principal witnesses for the commonwealth. After their names had been called several times and they did not respond the court directed the verdict of not guilty.

W. Clarence Shelly, Esq., represented Ziegler. Patrolman H. S. Roberts, of the highway patrol, was the prosecutor.

On the jury were John Jacobs, John E. Reese, Charles Chronister, Neely Taughinbaugh, W. C. Myers, George Neely, Calvin R. Smith, Howard Shriver, Eugene Small, Cleatus Rinnman, Harry Sonesifer and George M. Carbaugh.

$1,000 Bail Forfeited

In the second case called for trial, Raymond Horn, of near Steubenville, Ohio, charged with involuntary manslaughter and operating a car while under the influence of liquor, did not answer, and the court ordered the bailpiece of $1,000, posted by the United States fidelity and guaranty company, forfeited.

The court also directed that a process be issued for Horn's arrest and that the case be continued until the January term.

The charges against Horn grew out of an automobile accident, near Shriver's grove on August 28, when George H. Bowers, a member of the bonus army, encamped here at that time, was killed.

True Bill

A true bill was then returned by the grand jury against Theodore Stape, of Gettysburg, charged with the illegal possession of 98 bottles of beer, and District Attorney John P. Butt planned to call that case for trial as soon as Stape could be located and brought into court.

The grand jury also returned a true bill against Richard B. Gabney, charged with embezzlement by broker. Frank L. Eby is the prosecutor.

E. P. Miller, York street, was appointed foreman of the grand jury this morning. The court excused the Rev. A. W. Geigley and Charles Hoyer from grand jury service.

Eugene V. Bullett, Esq., was appointed master in the divorce action by Anna Dandorff Hemler against George P. Hemler.

With an unusually heavy trial list ahead of the court, the courtroom was crowded at the opening of the November session, which is scheduled for two weeks.

Seek Troops To Protect Trucks In Milk Confab

Cincinnati, Nov. 14 (AP)—A request for national guardsmen to protect milk trucks coming into Cincinnati from nearby sections of Ohio, Kentucky and Indiana was in the hands of state military officials today as the strike of union milk wagon drivers here grew more serious. A producers' strike also was considered.

Milk dealers were arming guards to accompany interstate trucks after reporting drivers had been halted, threatened with violence and fired upon. Authorities expressed fear of violent clashes.

The strike, called three days ago when the union drivers refused to agree to a 20 per cent reduction in wages, was marked by several outbreaks of violence Sunday.

Clerk Chants Oath, Wife Hears 'Burglar'

Durham, N. C. (AP)—One thing is certain—S. O. Riley, clerk of recorder's court, is always ready to chant his accustomed oath.

It was early morning. Mrs. Riley awoke and shook her husband.

"Wake up," she said in a hushed voice. "There's a burglar in the room."

Riley sat up sleepily and began: "You solemnly swear the evidence you shall give the court in this action now on trial—"

He received more vigorous shaking, finally got up and found no burglar. A perfectly good oath wasted, thought Mrs. Riley.

A STILL ON EVERY FARM PROPOSED TO ROOSEVELT

Kenosha, Wis., Nov. 14 (AP)—An alcohol still on every farm is the suggestion advanced by Municipal Judge Calvin Stewart to President-elect Franklin D. Roosevelt as a means of overcoming the agricultural depression.

In a letter to Mr. Roosevelt, Judge Stewart advised that farmers be allowed to convert surplus grain into industrial alcohol. Such disposition of the crop would give farmers a new market and would conserve oil deposits, the judge said.

BULLETS LOSE TO OLD RIVALS

Rejuvenated Mules Scamper Wildly Over Orange And Blue In Last 5 Minutes.

Rebounding from their shocking defeat at the hands of F. & M. the week previous the Mules of Muhlenberg, comprising more sophomores than veterans, tore into the Orange and Blue Bullets of G-burg, at Allentown, Saturday and pushed Gettysburg into a conference tie with F. & M., 26 to 7.

The Gettysburgians were far from their customary strength. Their plays failed to click, they were off on passing and in many other respects presented perhaps the most bitterly disappointing showing of the season.

Muhlenberg started the battle by scoring a touchdown. Weiner, sophomore back for the Mules, took G-burg's kick-off on his own 90-yard strip and galloped through the entire Bullet team for a touchdown. The Mules pushed across another touchdown and the Bullets tallied one marker in the first three quarters when the Mules took advantage of two breaks and annexed two markers in the last five minutes of play.

Howard's pass and McCarty's 25-yard sprint accounted for the Bullet's score. Howard drop-kicked the extra point.

The Bullets and the Possums are now tied for first place in the conference struggle. Each team has won two games and lost one. The Turkey day clash, unless resulting in a tie, will decide the championship. If the Thanksgiving day tilt is knotted Gettysburg, F. & M., Muhlenberg and Ursinus will be tied for the championship with two victories, one lost and one tie game each.

Burn Cuban Town Wrecked By Storm

Camaguey, Cuba, Nov. 14 (AP)—The town of Santa Cruz Del Sur became a gigantic funeral pyre today on the order of military authorities.

The destruction of the town where wind and water took the lives of probably 2,500 Cubans last week was thus completed for the sake of sanitation. This made it probable that the exact number of lives taken by the hurricane will never be known.

Camaguey city where more than 1,000 injured refugees are concentrated today affected repairs on the aqueduct assuring water supply.

The military authorities averted the city and vaccination to rule epidemic was compulsory.

Chicago, Nov. 14 (AP)—Following the failure of Roscoe Turner to complete a projected round-trip coast-to-coast flight Saturday, James Doolittle Sunday announced plans for an assault on existing air transport speed records over 9,000 miles of regularly flown routes.

Doolittle said he hopes to dash from Chicago to both coasts and the Gulf of Mexico and back within six days at an average flying speed of 230 miles an hour to show that air travel has not yet reached its maximum speed.

The record-breaking attempts, he said, will be made in a plane of his own design now nearing completion at St. Louis. It will carry four passengers and a pilot. The flyer plans to start November 23.

GLAMOUR IN A DOG'S LIFE

High Spots in Debt Question

(By the Associated Press)

Here are the latest developments on war debts and armaments:

France and England ask extension of the present moratorium and suggested conferences with the United States looking to further revision.

President Hoover invited President-elect Roosevelt to confer with him on the problem.

Mr. Roosevelt, at Albany, prepares to reply today.

Senator Walsh, democrat, Montana, proposes special session of congress to pass on debt questions if matter "is urgent enough."

A committee headed by Alfred P. Sloan, Jr., and including Alfred E. Smith and Nicholas Murray Butler advocated moratorium extension and readjustment of debts.

Senator Fess, republican, Ohio, said he would favor a conference on adjustments of debts but would oppose negotiations designed to lead to "ultimate cancellation."

France completed details of a three-point armament reduction plan reported to include a general consultative pact by which nations would renounce the right of neutrality in case of war and would join in a general conference to cut armaments.

Koelnische Illustrierte Zeitung, German weekly, in a review of French military organizations said "France is world champion when it comes to camouflaging her military expenditures."

The French government called these conclusions "fantastic and false" and said France plans to reduce naval strength.

Turner Flying Behind Schedule

Columbus, Nov. 15 (AP)—Flying behind the schedule he had cut out for himself Colonel Roscoe Turner attempting to set a new transcontinental air speed record left Columbus for Kansas City at 10:37 a. m. e. s. t. today.

He landed here for fuel at 10:20 a. m. having left Floyd Bennett Field, New York, at 7:46 a. m. e. s. t.

Turner was forced to abandon his east west flight for the record here Saturday because of a blown tire and damaged landing gear.

Colorado River Ousted From Bed To Clear Way for Hoover Dam

Boulder City, Nev., Nov. 14 (AP)

—Man turned the muddy waters of the mighty Colorado river through a hole in one of its mile-high canyon walls—a man-made hole burrowed in one year to remove the river from the bed it has been carving deeper, year by year, for more ages than man has known it.

The diversion of the river is the first step in the $165,000,000 project to harness it definitely, through the construction of the Hoover dam, to work for the good of man.

Turned from its "grand canyon" through a black hole in the Arizona wall—a bore fifty feet in diameter—by a blast of dynamite at 11:30 o'clock Sunday morning, the river plunged underground to skirt the site of the greatest dam ever planned by man, to permit excavation, first, for the dam foundation and, later, its construction.

As the waters surged through the tunnel to a five-foot depth, great power shovels bit away the debris from the blast and hurled it into the river bed.

Other big steam shovels were on the trestle bridge across the river busily engaged in completing an earthen dam so all of the flow

HOOVER SPEEDS TO WHITE HOUSE

Historic Conference With President-elect May Be Held Next Week.

On Board Hoover Special, Nov. 14 (AP)—President Hoover hurried eastward today toward what they may prove an historic conference between himself and President-elect Roosevelt over debt questions of moment to the world.

Informed virtually all debtor nations of the United States intended to seek suspension of payment due December 15, President Hoover yesterday made public a lengthy telegram he sent to the New York governor at Albany inviting him to visit the White House this week to seek a common basis of action extending into the next administration.

As the train swung across part of New Mexico and Texas today the president looked ahead not only to debt questions but also to other matters he intends to place before congress.

In addition to his annual message to congress and his budget message Mr. Hoover hoped to send to capital hill detailed plans for the reorganization of government.

President Hoover's return to Washington from his Palo Alto home was delayed by a side trip Saturday night to Boulder City, Nev., where he inspected the preliminary work of the $165,000,000 Colorado river dam that is to bear his name.

MAROONS TIED BY CARLISLE

Time-honored Rivals Play Scoreless Tilt Here Saturday Afternoon.

Gettysburg high school received a big surprise here Saturday afternoon when the Carlisle high grid-ders held the Forney-coached clan to a scoreless tie in the final home game of the season.

Overwhelming favorites to win this tilt, Gettysburg failed to summon enough strength for a score, although within scoring distance three times.

This deadlock definitely established Mechanicsburg as the 1932 champion of the Southern Pennsylvania interscholastic league, displacing Gettysburg, which copped the title last year.

Coach Forney's team was unquestionably the best team Saturday, shoving their opponents all over the field. The Maroons reeled off fifteen first downs to two for Carlisle. The Green and White tribe gained one first down on a pass and another on a penalty.

Fumbles and the lack of good generalship at crucial stages of the game proved disastrous to the locals.

Fumbles Costly

Furney returned the opening kickoff to the 33-yard line. Jones, Trostle and Knox ploughed through the Carlisle line for three successive downs. The Maroon offense was stopped when Mentzer recovered a fumble on his own ten-yard stripe. Hellman failed to gain on two attempts and then punted out on the Gettysburg 30-yard line. Again the Maroon attack was launched and again Carlisle braced to take the ball on the 20-yard line. Hellman soon kicked and Trostle returned to the enemy 39-yard line. Another Maroon fumble was recovered by Smith on the Green and White 30-yard line and the quarter ended a few plays later.

The Maroons made their greatest bid for a score in the early minutes of the second quarter. Knox, Trostle and Jones bore the brunt of the drive that carried the ball from the Maroon 40-yard line to Carlisle's 10-yard mark. With a first down and goal to go, Knox got three yards off tackle. Jones' thrust at the line added three more. Trostle picked up a pair, but the next play failed as the gallant Carlisle line held. Kicking out of danger, the visitors halted the locals on the 31-yard line. Again Hellman punted, but this time a flock of Maroons blocked the kick. Timbers recovering on the 18-yard stripe. A barrage of passes failed with the half ending a few plays later.

Carlisle's lone scoring chance came early in the second half, when Weidner received Trostle's fumble of Hellman's punt on the Maroon 28-yard line. A pass, Hellman to Adams, made it first down on the 15-yard line. Knox then thrilled the crowd when he intercepted a pass and started a dash down along the side line with a clear field ahead of him. However, Wise overtook the Maroon speedster on the 40-yard line after a 30-yard scamper.

Utz Intercepts

Bill Utz, Maroon center, intercepted an enemy pass on the Carlisle 39-yard line in the last few minutes of play, but a grounded pass over the goal line gave Carlisle the ball and the game ended a few plays later.

The play of the entire Maroon line was outstanding. Not a first down was made through the great defense exhibited by the forward wall. Utz, Kuhn, Timbers and Knox put up steady games.

Fred Hellman, former Maroon back, was the whole show for Carlisle. Hellman carried the ball three-fourths of the time and also punted and passed. Fully half of the tackles fell to his prowess.

Academy Whips Emerson, 39-0

Gettysburg academy hung up its fifth straight victory of the season Saturday by downing the Emerson institute eleven at Washington, 39-0.

A rather unusual situation arose in the final quarter when after several injuries to the Emerson squad, that team was forced to continue the game with but ten men. Coach Hips Wolfe immediately withdrew one of his men and the ten-men teams finished the contest.

The Orange and Blue lads played a swift game that kept the home club on the run. Gerton, Robbins, Twigg and Triani gained at will. Pitzer, Harbaugh and Rummel put up good games on the line.

A bronchoscope was used to extract a cocklebur from the lung of Horace Abercrombie, 10, of Tallapoosa, Georgia.

"It's fun to watch Maytag savings pile up"

Each week a few more dollars for you—more dollars to spend for things you really want—that's what it means to own a Maytag.

But that's only part of the story. While you're saving money on lower cost washings, you're saving on clothes, too. For the gentle thoroughness of the Maytag washing method actually makes clothes last longer. And certainly being able to give your things the purifying effect of fresh air and sunshine is a big advantage.

Come in and let us show you the Maytag line. Learn how little it will cost you to have a Maytag in your home. Or perhaps you would rather 'phone for a free home demonstration.

ONE HUNDRED YEARS AGO

The degree of Doctor of Divinity has been conferred upon Professor S. S. Schmucker, of the Theological Seminary in this borough, by the Trustees of Rutgers College, New Brunswick, N. J.
It had been in contemplation by the Trustees of Jefferson College, at Canonsburg, Pa., to confer a similar honor upon Mr. Schmucker—which resolution was superseded by the act of the Trustees of Rutgers College.

The purchase of a new press and type has occasioned so great an addition to my ordinary expenses, that I feel myself under the necessity of calling upon those of my patrons who are indebted to me, for subscription, advertising, &c., to assist me in meeting my engagements, by discharging a part, at least, of their accounts.

I have for a long time refrained from giving what is commonly called a "dun," but my friends will at once see the cause which has prompted me to do so at this time.
And I am more encouraged to do so, from the fact that, although my expenses have been very considerably increased by the enlargement of the "Sentinel," yet the price of subscription will still remain the same—Two Dollars for a Year.

The words of Agur, the son of Jahveh, even the prophecy: the man spoke unto Ithiel, even until Ithiel and Ucal.

Surely I am more brutish than any man, and have not the understanding of a man.

I neither learned wisdom, nor have the knowledge of the holy.
Who hath ascended up into heaven, or descended? who hath gathered the wind in his fists?
who hath bound the waters in a garment? who hath established all the ends of the earth? what is his name, and what is his son's name, if thou canst tell?

Every word of God is pure: he is a shield unto them that put their trust in him.

Add thou not unto his words, lest he reprove thee, and thou be found a liar.

Two things have I required of thee; deny me them not before I die:

Remove far from me vanity and lies: rive me neither poverty nor riches: feed me with food convenient for me:

Lest I be full, and deny thee, and say, Who is the Lord? or lest I be poor, and steal, and take the name of my God in vain.

be found guilty.—Proverbs 30:1-10.

Young Men's Christian Association: Below we publish the proceedings of a meeting of the young men of the Borough and vicinity, held for the purpose of organizing a
"Young Men's Christian Association." We are pleased to see the steps taken by our young men in the movement. Something of the kind is much needed in our town, and we hope to see it meet with proper encouragement from the whole of our citizens, parents particularly, who have sons growing up to manhood, and who are nightly exposed to the temptations of the bar room and the haunts of the loafer, should be deeply interested in this commendable object and should lend their entire influence to assure the success of the Association.

[Communicated.]
A meeting of the young men of the Borough and vicinity was held in the Lecture Room of St. James' church on last Saturday evening
for the purpose of organizing a Young Men's Christian Association.

On motion, the Rev. R. Hill was called to the chair and R. A. Lytle, appointed Secretary. The meeting was then opened with prayer by Wm. B. Meals.

The following resolution was taken up and adopted:
"Resolved, That we form ourselves into a Young Men's Christian Association."

On motion Messrs. Meals, Lytle and H. Baugher were appointed to draft a Constitution and By-laws.

The meeting adjourned to meet in the Lecture Room of St. James'
Lutheran church on Saturday evening, Nov. 14th, at 7 o'clock.

R. A. Lytle, Sec'y.

PARROTS INVENTED KISS
SAYS ZOO INVESTIGATOR

Sydney, Australia (AP) — Kissing started with the birds, says an official of the Taronga Park zoo who has been studying the habits of parrots.

He points especially to the giant macaws, the males of which feed their mates from their beaks until the eggs are hatched.

"These are not the sort of kisses we see on the screen," said the investigator, "but it was from some such actions that humans of the early days got their ideas of the kiss."

AUTUMN SCENE
Upon the hills the giant trees with color were ablaze.

Like smoke from smouldering embers rose the late October haze.

All silent and magnificent I fancied
I could see The Master Artist touching up some solitary tree.

But the glory of the landscape was a flash of crimson flame
At the bottom of the picture where the painter signs his name.

Now I cannot speak the language of the men who paint and draw,
And with technical precision can't describe the scene I saw.

All I know is that a picture was unrolled for me to see,
And the high lights and the shadows seemed just what they ought to be.

But that gorgeous burst of color in the foreground caught my eye,
And I knew it made the landscape, though I couldn't say just why.

It struck me as peculiar, where an earthly painter signs,
The Master Artist splashed His name in tangled shrubs and vines.

And as I stepped up closer I discovered and was glad He had given that touch of splendor to the poorest stuff He had.

To the common things in summer which man scarcely sees at all He had given the place of honor and the glory of the fall.

MODERN COED GOES 150
MILES DAILY TO SCHOOL

Mt. Pleasant, Mich. (AP)—Grandparents who boast of having walked six or seven miles to school in their youth, have occasion to pause at who is out-doing the old-timers.

Pauline Strong, a freshman, daily drives a distance of 75 miles to Mt.
Pleasant to attend college. In the evening she makes the return trip, and thinks nothing of it at all.

TODAY'S TALK

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

WINDOW SHOPPING

WINDOW dressing has become a fine art in most of the progressive retail stores throughout the world. Everything is done to appeal to the imagination and love of the beautiful on the part of the one who stands in front of the window.

"The best foot" is put forward. When an impression is desired the best is always displayed. First impressions, too, create whereas second impressions often are side-stepped. We judge a man or woman by his or her appearance and by those with whom he or she likes to associate. The associates of a man are as surely his manner of shop dressing as the windows of a merchant.

Watch any crowd about an attractive window. Listen to their comments. Note how some windows lead their spectators right into the store, where they become easy prospective buyers because of the interest around outside.

Idea is the display pieces of a man's mind. They attract friends.
They build companionship and bring beauty and interest into a life. We are what we like to talk about, what we enjoy reading and seeing, and the places we delight to call our own. We are regular traveling shop windows!

We shop for ideas, interests, and stored wealth that others display.
And we pay prices for that which we take from others. The sum total of our shopping tells to the world the manner of individual we are.

A writer displays in the book he produces the wide store of material that he has made his own over a long period of years.
We soon walk away from some shop windows as we walk away from many people—whose showing is insufficient to attract our time or our desire to own. Appearance is a great key to success and to character.

It is well for us all to daily question ourselves as to what we are offering the ones who come daily to view our display of mind or heart.

MEET THE NEW PRESIDENT

(EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the second of six articles on President-elect Franklin D. Roosevelt, revealing little incidents in his every-day life, his traits of character, his philosophies and interests.)

By Walter T. Brown (Associated Press Staff Writer Who Accompanied Roosevelt On His Campaign)

Albany, N. Y. (AP)—President-elect Franklin D. Roosevelt has many interests but few hobbies. He is a stamp collector of renown and his collection of books on the navies of the world is notable.

The last few years have been such busy ones that Mr. Roosevelt has not been able to devote much time to the stamps. Occasionally, however, he has an hour open when he goes over his stamp books.

"The president-elect carries on a correspondence with stamp collectors he never has met. An Indianapolis youth has written to Mr.
Roosevelt for several years. He first wrote him about a rare stamp in the Roosevelt collection.

When the democratic standard-bearer visited Indianapolis, the young stamp collector managed to shake his hand.

Mr. Roosevelt rides and swims.
Before he was stricken with infantile paralysis he was a golfer.

Poker playing was one of the president-elect's diversions before the business of statecraft occupied his time. Occasionally on the yearly trips to Warm Springs, Georgia, he would sit in with newspaper correspondents accompanying him.

A lasting tribute to his card playing ability is a row of straight flush hands on the wall of an exclusive club near Washington. There are seven of these hands and that is all that have been held in the club.
Two of these are labelled "F. D.
Roosevelt."

Corn For Heating
Is Cheap As Coal,
Iowa Tests Prove

Ames, Iowa (AP)—Burning corn in lieu of coal is no joke with Iowa farmers.

It is so much a reality that the Iowa State college experiment station has made tests to discover its practicality, heating values, and comparison to coal, and has uncovered these facts:

Iowa farmers can burn corn just as cheaply as Iowa coal, more cheaply than they can burn out-of-state coal, and much more cheaply than anthracite.

It may, the station points out, be more profitable to feed the corn to stock and market it as meat in the spring, or more convenient to sell corn and buy the coal. Nevertheless, the following figures on heating values are offered:

One hundred and forty-one pounds of ear corn with 8 per cent moisture has the same heating value as 100 pounds of Iowa coal—in other words 40 bushels of corn (70 pounds per bushel) is equal to a ton of Iowa coal.

About 47 bushels of corn equal a ton of out-of-state coal.

"BUT, LISSER, JUDGE—"

Houston, Tex. (AP)—Counterfeiting tickets for the Rice-Texas game didn't turn out so well for three men who tried it. The purchaser of two of the money pasteboards was the judge before whom their case was called.

ITALY RECORDS HORSES

Rome (AP)—The war department requires birth and death certificates for all horses in Italy, thus keeping track of every equine for use in event of war. Failure to register horses brings penalties almost as severe as in the case of lack of record on human beings.

Youthful Conchita Montenegro Turns To Movie Career After Vaudeville.

By Robin Coons

Hollywood.—Brown-eyed, youthful, vivacious Conchita Montenegro may collect dolls and wooly animals as a hobby, but her serious thoughts are all turned to the movie career she wants to resume after her recent vaudeville venture.

Soon after she came to Hollywood two years ago, a 16-year-old girl who couldn't speak a word of English, she acquired the reputation of a social leader in the Spanish colony, and was hostess at many gatherings in the big house she leased. This time she has taken an apartment, where much entertaining is impossible—so she means business.

Vaudeville and its four or five shows a day converted Conchita to Hollywood, which she hadn't liked so well before. She plans to stay now.

Given Lead Role

Conchita, born in Madrid, attracted considerable attention because she learned enough English in three months to play the lead in "Never the Twain Shall Meet" opposite Leslie Howard. She was brought here for Spanish versions, but her future in English films was so promising that Fox signed her. Spanish roles weren't so plentiful, she found. But now she hopes to become "a real actress" in English films.

Easy Job

Screen-writing, if we are to accept the authority of Jane Murfin, who co-authored "Smilin' Through" with Jane Cowl and writes picture plays too, is fairly simple.

Chances for a successful career in screen writing are "well founded," she says, if—

You can see a movie, come home, and write it down sequence by sequence; can remember the exact wording of the action played with the dialogue at important peaks of each sequence; can instantly think back and remember where an action in the last part of the picture was originated and planted in motive; can then pick up all the threads from this first planting which are eventually tied into a convincing knot at the climax.

Simple perhaps? But that's just the "foundation."

Ancient Irish Cremated Their Dead,
Built Towns On Rafts, Science Finds

By Howard W. Blakeslee
(Associated Press Science Writer)
Cambridge, Mass. (AP)—Five hundred years before Christ the ancient Irish were cremating their dead in the present Irish Free State.

This is one of the first prehistoric facts unearthed in a five year survey of Irish racial history, social and economic development and anthropological peculiarities, undertaken by Harvard university's department of anthropology with the approval of the president of the Free State.

Raft Village Discovered

The burial customs, pottery, stone implements and bronze daggers showing how these Irishmen of long ago lived were dug up in a preliminary survey the past summer. They were found in a huge cairn on Knockast hill, a 600-foot high elevation.

In county Westmeath, at Ballin-derry, the Harvard anthropologists discovered a raft village of the 10th century, A. D.

It was made by lake dwellers, who started with a huge log raft for a foundation. On top of this they added new platforms of peat and burshwood, cemented by clay. To form an artificial island. Sometimes 40 persons at a time lived on this raft.

High wooden stakes formed a protective palisade. Rotted remnants of dugouts nearby showed how these ancient people reached the land. Bones of domestic animals, deer and bear told the story of their hunting and farm life. Wooden tubs, barrels, iron knives, iron axes, bone combs and bronze pins filled in details of family and social occupations.

The survey is under direction of Professor E. A. Hooton, of the Harvard department of anthropology. He will conduct also the physical anthropology studies.

Dr. Hugh O'Neill Hencken, assistant curator of European anthropology of Peabody museum, Harvard, conducts the anthropological work. W. Lloyd Warner, assistant professor of social anthropology, directs the social and economic survey.

The project is described as a pioneer anthropological survey of a modern nation.

HOPPERS DERAIL TRAINS

Buenos Aires (AP)—Railway locomotives in northern Argentina are carrying 1,500 pounds of sand instead of the usual 150 pounds, because of the severe locust plague. Crushed insects made tracks so slippery that some trains were derailed.

CHILDREN GATHER WOOD TO GET 'LASSES' RATION

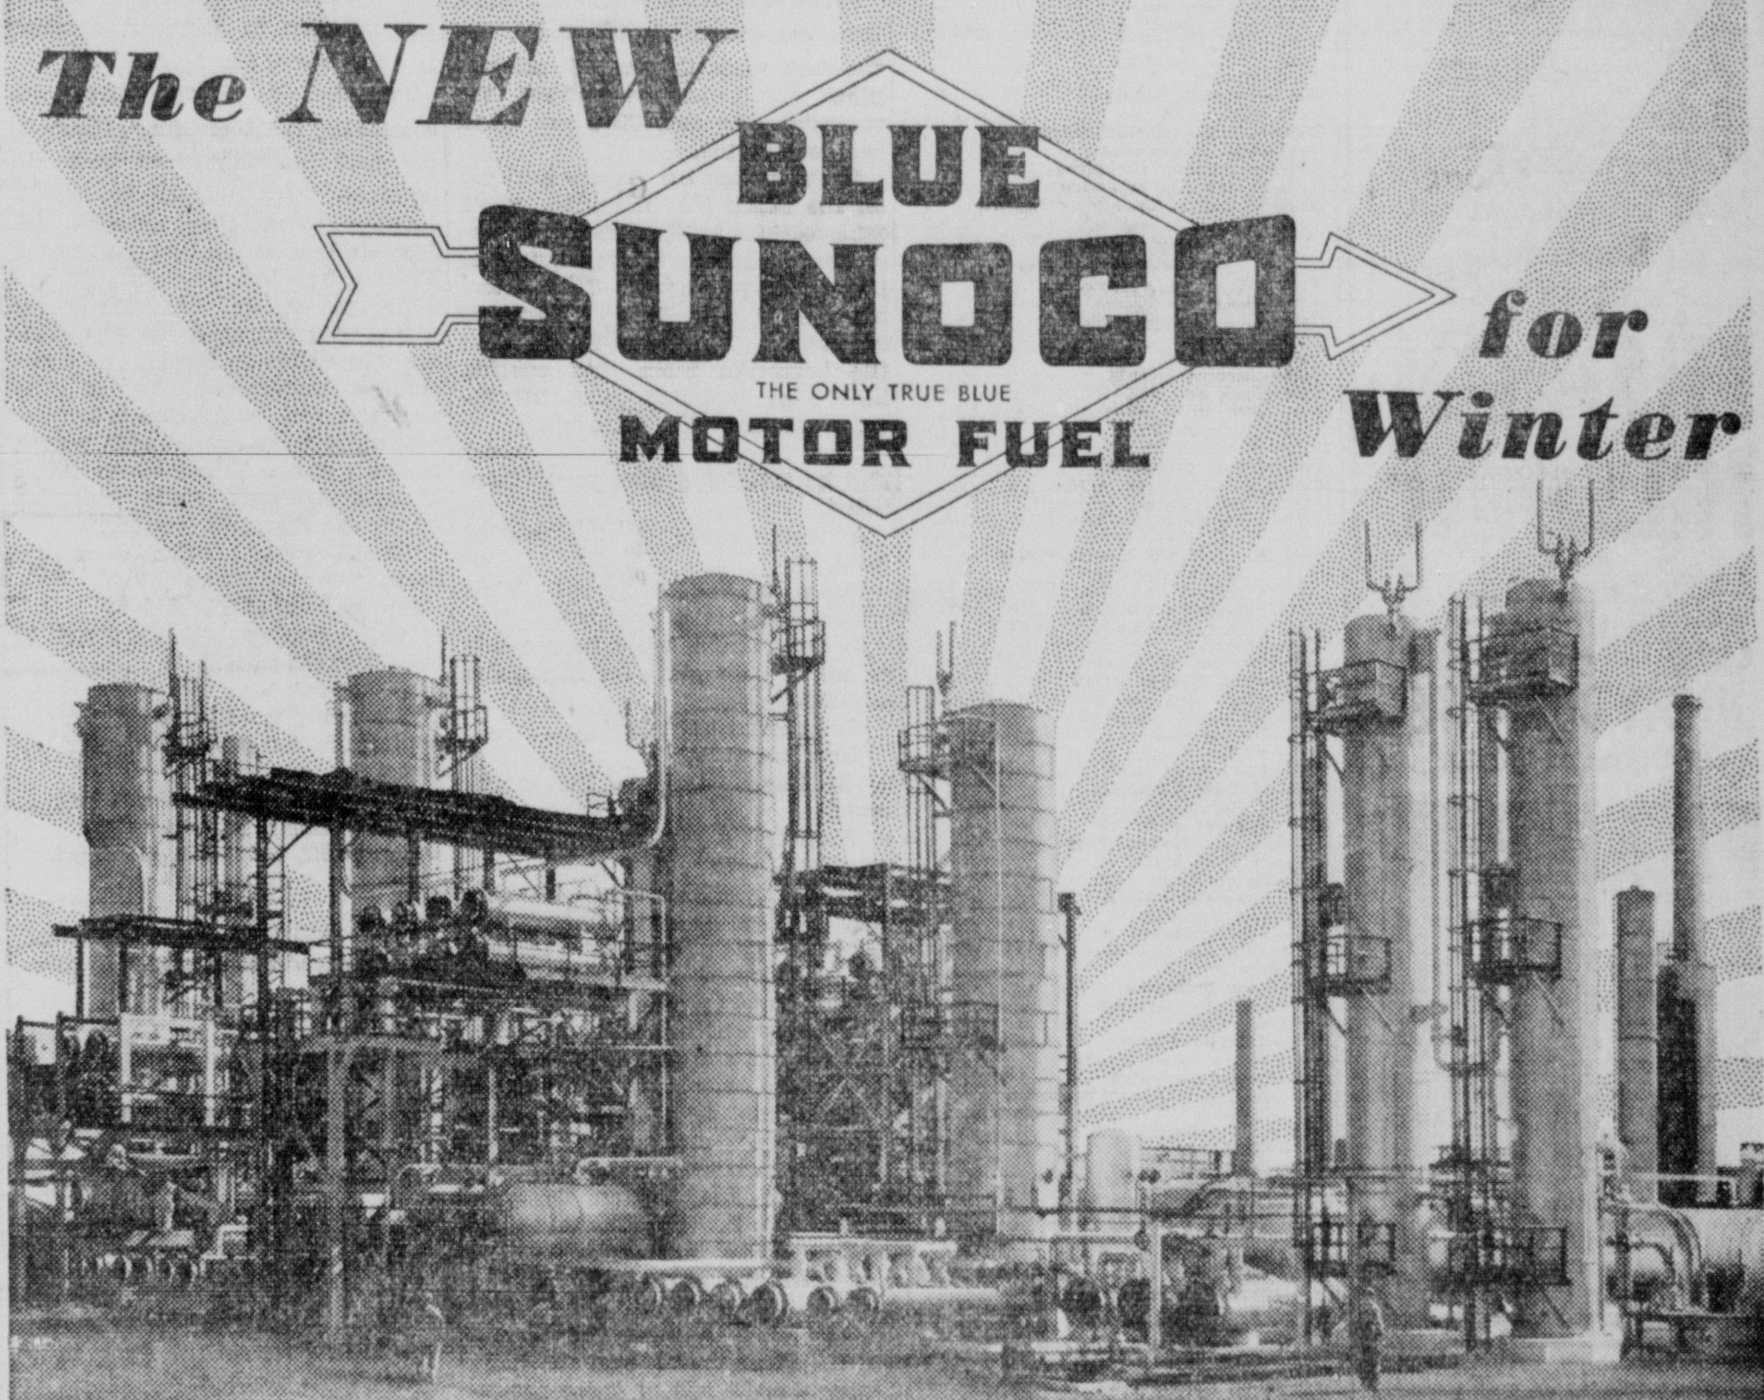

Oklahoma City (AP)—Because of a youngster's love for "lasses," Robert Jackson's labor problem is fading. Operating the town's only open-air sorghum mill, which he moves between his four patches of cane, Jackson has found an inevitable gallery of big-eyed children glad to gather enough wood to keep the fire going.

In turn the youngsters get the "lickings."

A Path To Paradise

By Coningsby Dawson

SYNOPSIS: Santa at last comes to know how Clive has felt, surrounded by evidences of her generosity. She understands his desire to support her. For the first time since their hurried marriage after Santa's divorce from Dicky, they are completely happy. Then, at St. Jean de Luz, in the midst of their belated and deliciously kiddy honeymoon, Santa sees Dicky. Clouds gather.

Chapter 25
A GREAT SURPRISE
Santa was like a frightened child. Her fear communicated itself. In the dark room, the moonlit sea rippling as it seemed against the verandah, she and Clive sat up in bed, whispering.

She'd spotted her former husband on the beach that morning. She'd followed him to Maxim's where, according to recipe, he was indulging in too many cocktails. That afternoon she'd slipped out to spy on him again. He hadn't budged. In the baccarat room that evening he'd been gambling away his father's fortune like a madman.

"But does he know we're here? Has he interfered with you?" Clive asked.

A weary shake of the puzzled head.

"Then we should worry! We'll remove to Biarritz tomorrow."

In the morning when he reminded her of their plans for flight, she astounded him.

"It wouldn't be right."

"How not right?"

"To leave Dicky in his weakness."

"What would you gain by reasoning with him?"

"I could save him. Lou-Lou's with him. She's all dolled up like a princess. She's the girl, if you've forgotten, for whom he stole my coat. A bad influence, I'm anxious."

The argument bade fair to go on endlessly, till she pricked his pride.

"You can only have one motive for forbidding me to talk to him—that you don't trust me."

The meeting took place that afternoon. She had written Dicky a formal note, inviting him to tea at the Ste. Barbe Golf Club.

As Clive and she approached the last green, they espied him—thank heavens, he was minus Lou-Lou!—seated blond, sober and be-flannelled beneath one of those mushroom umbrellas which give shade to tables in hot climates.

"Hello, Dicky! Think you know my husband?"

The two men grinned their hostility.

Santa did the talking. When iced drinks had been served, she wasted no time in explaining her mission. Clive had noted the coquettishness with which she had dressed, aiming to make the most of her appearance. She followed the same tactics in her conversation, exposing to her ex-husband a more genteel side of her nature than he had ever guessed existed.

He turned to Clive.

"I wouldn't know her for the same wife."

She was all sweetness and conversation. From a thousand angles she worked on him. He'd blamed malignant circumstances for his failure. He was rich now—had the chance for which he'd professed that he was always searching. She begged him to brace up and seize his opportunity.

"I'm not married to you any longer," she capped her persuasions; "but no one will be prouder than myself to hear that you're succeeding. My husband will be proud, too. Won't you, Clive?"

Clive felt like an infidel at an evangelistic meeting. He gazed away at the shadowy Pyrenees, at the arc of sea fishing like a mirror. He didn't believe in all this slush.

"Don't see why I should be proud. At the same time don't see why I should be sorry."

More prayerful pleading between Santa and her ex-husband. Clive excused himself and went off to chat with the club secretary. When he returned, he was greeted with the glad news that Dicky had promised reformation. He had pledged himself to abandon Lou-Lou, to return immediately to America, to forswear the devil and all his works. He was going to make good so that Santa might be proud of him.

Till he said, he sought their company. Their honeymoon became a threesome. He embarrassed Clive by his gratitude.

"If I don't keep near your influence, I shall fly back to temptation."

Clive was by no manner of means certain that he wasn't being humbugged. He didn't breathe freely till he'd seen the prodigal on board the train, bound for the purer atmosphere of self-conquest and Chicago.

In the little time that remained he and Santa strove to recover their interrupted ardor. They had partly succeeded, when their peace was disrupted by the cabled news that Mr. Cleasby's firm had crashed.

Clive's imagination at once visualized what lay before him. He would arrive in New York to learn that he was out of employment. His case would be precisely the same as Dak's: he would be financially dependent on Santa. Inability to support her had been the prime cause of Dak's matrimonial shipwreck.

"But darling, there are heaps of College athletic directors, handling the hazardous football affairs of the season, appear to be learning a lesson Tex Rickard acquired many years ago in the first fighting business; namely that the percentage system is safer and more sensible than the guarantee.

Rickard considered no fighter, except Jack Dempsey, worth more than a percentage of what he could draw at the gate. If Rickard made definite guarantees, as he was often obliged to do, he safe-guarded himself by the ballyhoo, as in the Dempsey-Carpenter fight of 1921, or he arranged an alternative percentage deal with his principals.

Tough On Titans
Colleges which made football guarantees to visiting teams one or two years ago, based on more prosperous conditions or prospects, have been "holding the bag" this fall, as a result of greatly reduced gate receipts. Moreover, there is the experience, such as the University of Detroit admits, "in having the teams on its schedule kill their drawing power by getting themselves regularly and soundly licked before they played the Titans."

Only two teams came to Detroit with "unblemished records." As a consequence Athletic Director Charles E. Dorais, Rockne's old playmate at Notre Dame, "suggests that contracts be so drawn that a losing team's guarantee will be placed on a sliding scale, to keep pace with its drawing power. He believes a certain percentage of the base guarantee should be deducted for a defeat sustained in a prior game that same season."

Dorais has not worked out the details. I doubt if he will. The "sliding scale" might result in a guarantee sliding right out of the window. On what basis would reductions be

ALL-BRAN STOPPED HIS SLEEPLESSNESS AND TIRED FEELING

Cereal Relieved His Constipation

Read this enthusiastic letter from Mr. Haraden:

"My system had been run down for quite some time. About three weeks ago, I started taking ALL-BRAN for breakfast. I had been unable to sleep nights, but now all I have to do is turn in, and before I know it, I am fast asleep."

"I used to have a tired feeling all day, but now that ALL-BRAN is in my home to stay, there will be no more tired feelings with me."—Mr. Carl Haraden, Main Street, Hamilton, Massachusetts.

Science says that ALL-BRAN provides "bulk" to exercise the intestines, and vitamin B to help tone the intestinal tract. Also iron for the blood.

The "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is much like that of lettuce. Inside the body, it forms a soft mass. Gently, this clears out the intestinal wastes.

Isn't this safer than taking pills and drugs—often harmful! Just eat two tablespoonfuls daily for most types of constipation. If not relieved this way, see your doctor.

Manders Valuable

Minnesota's candidate for all-America fullback honors, Jack Manders, has no reputation as a passer but his line-bucking prowess has so occupied the opposition this season that Bernie Bierman's Gophers have been able to capitalize their aerial alternatives.

So writes Jay Vessels from St. Paul, adding: "Minnesota beat Nebraska on a pass; two of their three scores against Iowa were on passes and the winning touchdown against Northwestern was through the air. Big Jack got great gobs of yardage in all these games, averaging more than five yards a try against Northwestern, yet he scored only once on a plunge and that was against Iowa. He made the winning score against Nebraska on a lateral."

To the Voters of the 22nd Congressional District:

I am extremely grateful for your loyal expression of confidence in returning me as your representative in Congress from this district.

Again I assure you that all my efforts will be directed toward representing your best interest and the interests of the nation at large.
